

Newbury In Bloom 2007 Ten Year Celebrations

2007 sees Newbury's finest floral competition enter its 10th year and to mark such a momentous event, Newbury Town Council would like this year's competition to be the biggest and best yet!! Judges this year will be looking for a more environmentally friendly slant to entries and will be awarding extra points for any such points of interest.

For example, water saving measures or recycled containers (old tyres or washing up bowls), use of mediterranean plants and unusual displays will all be taken into account.

Please remember that your entry doesn't have to be huge, it could be a container that you have planted or a wildlife garden within your own personal space. If you've taken the time to create something nice then we will take the time to come and look at it.

A special mention goes to all you businesses out there, last year's entries were sadly lacking, be proud of your working environment and if yours already stands out amongst the crowd, enter it into Newbury In Bloom - think of all the free advertising!!
