Newbury Carnival 2011

After many months of planning, cutting and sticking the construction finally begins on our "At the end of the rainbow" themed float.

and of course there is always a crock of gold at the end of the rainbow, isn't there?

Now, how many people from the Council does it take to line up a painting on the back of a lorry!?!

Our beautiful rainbow mural, now on show at Winchcombe School

The finished article - doesn't it look pretty?

Very soon after, some very strange looking people starting turning up outside the Town Hall...

A rose between two thorns? Although some would say the other way round!

The orange fairy and the violet fairy - colours of the rainbow of course..

Our leprechaun team, who would have thought that so many ginger beards existed in Newbury?

and our colourful rainbow fairies.....

and our Irish Euros completed the company

All together now, say "leprechauns"

A view from Bartholomew Street and on to the Town Hall..

Everybody had great fun - obviously!

The bubbles were a great hit with everyone.

and of course it was all worth the effort when we won "Best Business Entry" again.

Carnival 2011 was amazing, the sun shone and everyone had such a good time, despite the aching feet and exhaustion at the end. Would we do it again? You bet we would, roll on 2013, we can't wait!!
